

Stepbrother Holiday (A Forbidden Billionaire Romance)

Nina had always kept to her books, knowing that the only way she could achieve her dreams was to study, study, study. Romance, she told herself, and satisfying all the unquenched desires that she had to confront one lonely night after another, would be part of her life once she had all her ducks in a row. Not now. Later. Calculated and ruthless, Hayden realized his ambitions in life when he climbed up the corporate ladder of his family's multi-billion dollar company, one confident step at a time. He didn't have time for things like love or feelings. But when his father decides to marry Nina's mother, he's going to discover that the one thing he actually needs is what he cannot have. Brought together for just one week, they find themselves falling for each other, despite the fact that they can never be together. Will they resist the one thing that they want most, or will Nina lower her walls long enough for Hayden to spark more than just her most forbidden desire?
