Growth hackers, aspiring online entrepreneurs and Digital marketers: Adriaan Brits teaches a best selling online entrepreneurs course. This publication mirrors what is taught during the course and teaches you how to implement some of the latest social business models online. It is the result of years of research and consultation with innovative and disruptive businesses. Social web properties are online hubs where users generate the content. The owner of the property merely facilitates the opportunity for other online entrepreneurs to make money online or to enjoy social activities. As a result, everyone in the value chain can be rewarded financially. With online advertising being the fastest growing segment, that includes mobile and tablet advertising, any website owner who understand how to target these markets, can prepare to join a very profitable industry. Given that responsive web templates and solutions are now so easy to enforce, practically all that is left for entrepreneurs is to gain a deeper understanding of how Google Adsense works and to observe some successful case studies. Concerning User generated content (UGC), engagement can be significantly improved by understanding what motivates a user to participate online. The case studies will show you exactly how users are encouraged to participate online and how the content is monetized. The additional revenue streams that are discussed, are some of the best kept secrets for which developers will charge you a fortune. This publication is thought provoking and will help online entrepreneurs to see new opportunities to establish highly profitable businesses on the web.
