

Van Gogh in Love: A (not so!) romantic Van Gogh Biography (Secrets of Van Gogh Book 4)

Van Gogh in Love tells the story of Vincent van Gogh's longing for love and family, exploring the lesser-known area of the artist's love life. Matters of love were always on Van Gogh's mind, and were inextricably linked with other aspects of his life. Van Gogh in Love focuses on Van Gogh's relationships with four striking women: his widowed cousin Kee Vos-Stricker, the prostitute Sien Hoornik, the unstable neighbor Margot Begemann and the flamboyant Parisian cafe-owner Agostina Segatori. As can perhaps be expected from an artist like Van Gogh, his choice of women was unconventional. He favored more mature companions, and pursued relationships with women that were considered unsuitable. Van Gogh's love affairs were frowned upon by his family, and further complicated by his lack of money. The artist's yearning for love and a family life was intimately connected with his artistic practice. A woman was important, but there is no doubt that art was the most important thing in his life. The authors quote extensively from the Van Gogh letters, allowing the reader to discover the artist's feelings about love and relationships at first hand. The book follows Van Gogh's quest for love up until his tragic end, detailing his life-long, and ultimately unfulfilled, desire for a woman and a family. A sensitive portrayal, shedding light on the man behind the iconic paintings. Van Gogh in Love is number # 4 of the series Secrets of Van Gogh, written by Van Gogh scholar Liesbeth Heenk in a conversational, accessible manner without the use of art historical jargon.
