Taken in the Haunted House Sara has always had a special relationship with the world of horror. The sight of monsters in her favorite movies turns her on far more than anything in the human world. When she passes the crumbling mansion on the edge of town, she makes a wish to see whats inside and something answers. What Sara finds inside are scenes from her most erotic dreams and her most terrifying nightmares. EXCERPT: My relationship with horror movies had always been unusual. Something about the screaming and the tense, adrenaline-fueled situations always managed to get my heart pumping. In my darkest desires that I had refused to admit, even to myself, I had always wanted this. Of course, what fun is it if the heroine gives in too quickly? What do you want from me? I asked. Standing in a locked room, it was fairly obvious what they wanted with me. You like being scared, they said, a dozen voices crackling as one. We want to scare you. Touched by a Demon Mia has always been able to see things that others cant. The eyes of supernatural creatures have followed her through her life, and one pair of those eyes has turned lustful. Can she survive the erotic attentions of a hungry demon? EXCERPT: The Incubus did not move like a human. In an eye blink, it was kneeling over me on the bed. Tonight though, it would be my turn to taste. I laid my hands flat against the Incubuss shoulders and guided it back onto the bed. Everywhere my hands touched felt like warm stone. I kissed those lips that looked so soft and inviting, and its mouth opened beneath mine. The tongue that met mine was hot and dry and tasted faintly of burning wood.

Zombie Bait The zombie virus has infected the world, and 1% of the population causes the zombies to go crazy with lust when they catch their scent. Jane learns quickly enough that weapons are no match for a creature that's aroused and undead. EXCERPT: A tiny percentage of the human race gives off a pheromone that, rather than smelling like dinner to a zombie, smells like zombie mating season. I guess I am lucky because I don't have to constantly worry about being horribly killed and eaten, but being the poster girl for zombie sex has its downsides too. Zombies are insatiable for brains and human meat with the rest of the population, but nothing can compare to the indescribable hunger they show when they get the scent of someone like me.
