

The Beauty of Color

From the beloved fashion icon and cosmetics entrepreneur, the first book to embrace global beauty and women of all ethnicities. Few faces are as instantly recognizable as that of Iman. She's been a groundbreaking supermodel for the world's top designers and a muse for photographers, and she is the founder of the world's most popular cosmetic brand for skin of color. Now, in an era when the face of beauty has changed—and the most celebrated women in Hollywood include such stars as Halle Berry, Jennifer Lopez, and Lucy Liu—Iman delivers a new approach to makeup and skin care. With The Beauty of Color, she revolutionizes the way women of color can think about the way they look and feel. Iman resists categorizing people according to ethnicity, and instead embraces the whole range of skin color—light to dark. This is the first beauty and makeup book to truly address skin tones across the spectrum—Latina, Black, Asian, Indian, Native American, Mediterranean, Middle Eastern, as well as women of mixed ethnicities. Inspired by her two illustrious careers—first as a world-class supermodel and then as founder of two of the world's top cosmetics lines—Iman is uniquely aware of the difficulties women of color have always had with skin care and makeup. In The Beauty of Color, Iman teaches readers how to work with skin care regimens and palettes targeted to their exact skin tone and type. With stunning color photographs and images on every page, the book itself is a work of beauty, featuring Salma Hayek, Tyra Banks, Venus and Serena Williams, and other celebrities, as well as ordinary women of all ages. Unique, informative, and creative, The Beauty of Color is not only the first book to show women of every shade how to look their very best, but is also a landmark celebration of global beauty.
