

Where the Wild Things Rock, A Day at the Beach with Picasso, The King Who Stole: Three Dreams

Quotes from Amazon reviews of Three Dreams by Jeff Hopp - Each of these stories is not only well conceived, but the art is stunning and if anyone can draw the attention of serious art critics and audiences alike it is most assuredly Jeff Hopp. This is a `must own art book for the library. All three stories were captivating, and I enjoyed them immensely. Great writing styles overall and like I said, the art book was amazing. In this sensitively entertaining book Jeff brings to life his own version of stories we all know and he has populated his redefined tales with wonderfully bizarre characters. Jeff Hopp's illustrations are beautiful, to say the least. Eye catching and mind boggling. What is important to mention is that this is beautifully illustrated by the authors own artwork and its a book I highly recommend even if just for that reason alone. Three Dreams by Jeff Hopp contains three illustrated stories - Where the Wild Things Rock - a rock and roll parody of Maurice Sendaks classic Where the Wild Things Are. A Day at the Beach with Picasso - an illustrated poem inspired by Ray Bradburys In the Season of Calm Weather. King Who Stole the Universe - inspired by the Mahogany Rush song King Who Stole (...the Universe) from the 1975 Strange Universe album.
